THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF FINANCE (SHRI BALASAHEB VIKHE PATIL): (a) and (b) the most visible social purpose served through the Central Government's subsidy expenditure is seen in the State Public Distribution System, where a very large share of States' poor population is supplied foodgrains and kerosene at substantially below the market price. There are, however, some States where lifting of allocated stocks has been fairly high and therefore coverage of, and benefits to poor population is much wider compared to some States where record of lifting of foodgrains from the Central Government is poor.

(c) whereas there is no proposal before the Government for scrapping subsidies, yet it is the constant endeavour of the Government to contain the subsidies within the budgetary provisions as part of prudent fiscal management.
